ACCIDENT TO THE PRINCESS REGENT.

THROWN OUT OF A CARRIAGE. A SEVERE SHOCK-NO DANGEROUS

SYMPATHY OF THE PEOPLE. During the Garfield memorial service at Fort lelivered to His Excellency Governor Dominis, which caused him to leave the church instantly. This hasty departure caused some surprise to the assemblage; but the occasion was not known to those in the church till at the close of the service, then it was learned from general street rumor that Her Royal Highness the Princess Regent had been thrown out of her carriage, and was very dangerously, if not fatally, injured. Great nxiety was manifest everywhere, and the leepest sympathy was felt and expressed for the welfare of the good Princess. Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, brother-in-law of Her Royal Highness, accompanied by Dr. Webb, took horse about noon and galloped over the Pali road to join the suffering Princess, who was lying in a state of suffering. At 6 p.m. news was telephoned ir town that the Waimanalo steamer was in sight, and bearing the wounded Princess; and when, at 7.15 p.m., the steamer had come alongside the wharf, a large concourse of silent, anxious and sympathetic people had assembled at the place of landing. Then a deeply affecting spectacle was presented. The Princess was lying upon a mattress on the deck. A group of anxious friends and public officers stood around. A beautiful night sky gleamed overhead, and partially revealed the anxious and sympathetic faces, that were alternately gazing at the face of the suffering Princess, and then at the doctor who knelt by her side, to learn from his expression what was the state of the royal patient. And, at the same time, the assembled mass of people at the landing were striving to peer over from the edge of the wharf on to the deck of the vessel to get a glimpse of their prostrate chiefess; and when admonished that they were crowding too near, they silently and unanimously stepped aside to await what should be done.

It was now learned that Her Royal Highness at the time of the accident, was seated in a small buggy, or caleche, drawn by a span of horses, with a driver; and was proceeding on a tour round Oahu, in company with H. R. H. Princess Likelike and members of suite. The Princess Regent was about to descend a steep pitch of road about half a mile distant from Mr. Boyd's esidence at Kaneohe, when a part of the harness of one of the horses broke; the span took fright and became unmanageable, the vehicle was overturned, falling upon the Princess who had been | trusted it might soon gird the whole island previously thrown out: and furthermore, the royal lady was precipitated down a steep embankment a distance of about 50 yards. When Kapena, then stood up on the bank of the the rest of the party joined the suffering lady, she cutting and made the following address in was speechless for some length of time. When | native and English: she had recovered somewhat, and was enabled to Your Royal Highness, ladies, gentl peak, she ordered a messenger to be dispatched to town to her husband, Governor Dominis. Opportunely, there happened to be near by Mr. John Cummings, who was aware that the steamer Waimanalo, then anchored about four miles distant, was about to start for Honolulu. He dispatched a messenger to delay her. A stretcher was procured, Her Royal Highness, who remained incapable of mo ement, was lifted upon it, and thus carried all the way to the steameranding, a distance of about four miles, placed on board the steamer, and brought to town. When considering the means to remove the rincess Regent from the steamer to her resilence, a stretcher was proposed; but Her Royal Highness objected. A baggage express with broad floor was procured; the suffering Princess was lifted up, lying upon her mattress, by strong and willing hands, placed gently upon the floor of the express, and then a company of policemen and other natives taking hold of shafts and ropes drew along their wounded chiefess, gently and The friends and officials who had ssembled-native and foreign-grouped around the improvised ambulance; the assembled multitude formed quietly into line alongside and in the rear, -and thus, without a sound to jar upon the anxious emotion of the occasion, except the subdued tramp of a sympathetic multitude, the silent cortege moved through the streets, gaining Mr. Macfie th numbers as it went, till the ambulance reached the entrance of the residence at Washington Place. As it entered, and the gates were about to be closed upon the anxious throng following, her people to enter, and though she could not raise her head; gave order that the gates be left open. The Princess was carefully removed from the ambulance, and placed upon a couch; and when, after a time, the doctor gave assurances that there was no evidence of any dangerous fracture or dislocation, the anxieties of the assembled people that had crowded into the grounds of the residence were quieted, and they quietly and thoughtfully dispersed. We are happy to be able to say that Her Royal Highness continues to recover from the effects of the

THE EARTHQUAKE ON HAWAII.

AT KAILUA. " About 5 o'clock this morning (Friday, Sept. 30th.), we had a severe shock of earthquake. A second shock was felt about three minutes after the first; and a third one about 1/4-past 5 a.m. The shocks did some damage to my crockery on the shelves; threw down some stone wall fences, cracked Kapakui's stone building, the church buildings, and several others. It the temerity to use the name of Mrs. Benfield rocked wooden structures pretty roughly. It frightened some people very much, who thought the end of the world was at hand."

The shock was very severely felt throughout Hawaii. In Kona, and along the coast, through the Waimea and Hamakua districts, we have accounts of stonewalls being cracked, and of considerable damage to crockery, and other fragile articles. Several large water cisterns on plantations, have been cracked, and their contents discharged.

TOUR OF THE PRINCESS REGENT ON KAUAI.

The Princess Regent and suite arrived at Hanalei on Tuesday, the 23rd ult., as stated in last Saturday's issue of the ADVERTISER, and were received by Governor Kanoa, and a large concourse of people. The Princess and party lodged with Judge Kakina. The following day Her Royal Highness and party took lunch with Mr. Koehling, the Street Church, on Thursday last, a message was hospitable, manager of the Princeville plantation After lunch, on Saturday afternoon the 3th inst., the royal party proceeded to Anahola, and arrived at Kilauea village at 4 p.m. They were met at the Chinese store of Chung Lung, by Mr. R. A. Macfie, junr., manager of the Kilauea Sugar Company, and a number of natives and employees of the plantation, who then presented the following address of welcome on behalf of the population of the district TO HER ROYAL HIGHNESS, LYDIA KAMAKAEHA

PRINCESS REGENT. "May it please your Royal Highness .- We the residents of Kilauea, desire to offer a hearty welcome to your Royal Highness on the occasion of your visit to this the Garden Island of the Kingdom. We note with pleasure the lively interest taken by your Royal Highness in th welfare of your subjects and assure you of our hearty appreciation of the same. We would congratulate your Royal Highness on the increasing prosperity of the Kingdom, and the prospects of the near return of Hi Majesty from his successful tour round the (Signed in behalf of the residents of Kilauea. R. A. Macfie, June. Kilauea, September 24, 1881."

After which Her Royal Highness made short reply in appropriate terms, and at the conclusion, she was informed that at that moment the first piece of track for the first Royal Highness would drive the first spike, which she kindly consented to do. Proceeding to the plantation, the road on either side was tastefully decorated with ever-green boughs and an arch across the plantation gates, surmounted by two small Hawaiian | farlane. flags on either side. Riding hastily to the mill and beyond the cutting, the road was arrived at, and a large crowd had collected. -the Royal Standard having been hoisted on a temporary staff. Her Royal Highness alighted from her carriage, and was met by Mr. Macfie, who introduced Mr. C. V. Housman, engineer of the road. The details of the line, as to its length and rolling stock were explained to Her Royal Highness, who took great interest in all these particulars, and expressed her great satisfaction at be-Ing able to be present at the laying of the first railway on the island of Kauai, and and countrymen. It is with a deep feeling of interest I stand here to address you. When we landed on your island, I little thought we should be called upon to assist at so pleasant an undertaking as this. Had we known this earlier, we would have hastened our movements. We are now about to place the first spike in a new enterprise on this island. You have all watched the mprovements that have been going on here for the past three or four years, and this I consider one of great importance to help out the previous undertakings. But before closing these remarks I must thank you one and all for the kind greeting you have extended us, and I would ask the manager and owners of this line, that the loco motive be called the "Liliuokalani" after Her Royal Highness.

Governor P. Kanoa, of Kauai, then rose and said :-- " He felt proud at being present on this occasion. He felt proud of the fact that Her Royal Highness had condescended to place the first spike in the first railway. on his island. He knew as well as his fellow countrymen the advantage of foreign improvements, and railways are especially wanted. He trusted this short line of three Mr. Macfie then advanced to Her Royal miles might lead to a further extension of Highness and expressed his gratification and pleasure at this Royal favor; and he regretted owing to the shortnes of time, a silver hammer, more fitted for the occasion. had not been procurred. Her Royal Highness then advanced and hit the spike twice on the head, It having been declared home by the engineer. Three cheers were called for, which were heartily responded to. Captain Grant, a planter for the Kilauea Sugar Company, was then presented to Her Royal Highness, and the natives advanced one by one, and paid their respects, by kissing the hand of the Princess. After a little general conversation, Her Royal Highness prepared to enter her carriage when the native girls formed in choir and sang the Hawaiian National Anthem, which was most effective and appropriate. On passing out, the Hawaiian, English and American flags were hoisted at the mill, and the Chinese hoisted their flag in the Chinatown of the plantation. The visit occupied but an hour and a quarter, and was most enjoyable, and one long to be remembered. The track of this road was built in England, by Messrs. John Fowler & Co., for Mr. C. V. Housman. It is three miles long, 2 feet narrow guage, with twenty-four eight-wheel platform cars, with 17 ton locomotive, and is leased to the Kilauea

Sugar Company.

Among the company present, were Capt. Grant, Messrs. Brigstock, Sandeman, Whittard, J. C. Sing, R. C. Mullen, Henry Sheridan, C. C. Anderson, Revd. Mr. Mahoe, Judge Kakina and others. The Princess Regent and suite leaving Kilauea, rode to Anahola, where they spent the night (Saturday, Sept. 17), at the house of Mr. Palohau, Deputy Sheriff and former member of the Legislative Assembly. Leaving Anahola, the royal party rode on to Kapaa. At this point, the people according to previous announcement had assembled in the misssionary meeting house, and had an opportunity to tender a loyal greeting to the Princess Regent, and to listen to some words of encouragement from her lips. Here it was observed, that Rev. Mr. Wainwright of the Anglican Church is exercising a beneficent influence in behalf of the native people, who express a warm appreciation of his ministration among them. At Kealia, Her Royal Highness called upon Mrs. Z. Spalding, and Mrs. Purvis. royal party spent the Sunday at Kapaa. The next day, Monday, the Princess Regent and suite rode to Niumalu, to the residence of Governor Kanoa, where the Princess rested a while on account of indisposition. At this place H. R. THE KING IN PARIS.

LETTER FROM EUROPE-No. 60. (From our own Correspondent.)

LONDON, AUGUST 1% The King of Hawaii and suite left Vienna on Monday, August 8th, at a quarter to 9, by express train direct for Paris; arrived at Munich next morning, and passed through Stuttgart the same day. A telegraphic invitation from King Charles, of Wurtemberg, had to be declined on account of the limited time.

WEDNESDAY, August 10th-The King arrived at the Gare de l'Est, Paris, at halfpast 5 a.m. As no intimation of his coming had been given, there was no receptioneven the Hawaiian Consular representatives being ignorant of their Sovereign's arrival. The Royal party drove at once to the Hotel Continental, where the large suite of rooms -numbered 73, 74, 75, 76, and 77-had been prepared for His Majesty. They are situated in the first story, forming the corner of the Rue de Rivoli and the Rue Rouget de l'Isle. with a fine view on the gardens of the Tuileries. The King remained in his rooms all day, in order to rest from the fatigues of his rapid journey from the Austrian capital. and also to read and answer the mails from Honolulu, which he found awaiting him. An interview with President Grevy could not be arranged, unfortunately, as the latter had already left Paris for his country seat at Mont-sous-Vaudrey. After dinner the railway on Kauai was about to be laid, and King, with his attendants, visited the great it would be considered an honor if Her circus of the Hippodrome, and then stopped a short time at the concert halls des "Ambassadeurs" and "Alcazar," in the Champs Elysèes. The British representative was also in full diplomatic uniform and accompanied by all the members of the Embassy. At 6 o'clock the King took dinner with his suite and at 3 o'clock the royal party drove in two open landaus to the Grand Opera, At the staircase to the court of honor His Majesty was received by M. Darcel, the Secretary-General of the opera, in place of the Director Vaucorbeil, who was ill, and conducted to the Presidential box. The King was accompanied by Messrs. Armstrong, Judd. Macfarlane, Count Carmart d'Harmale, M. Holmblad, M. Burger, M. Charles Michiels, and the Count de Gourey The opera of the evening was Verdi 'Aida," which pleased the King exceedingly. During the interval after the second act His Majesty, conducted by M. Darcel, visited the coulisses and the foyer de la danse. Leaving the opera a little before midnight, the King, true to a previouslygiven promise, paid a visit to the building of the well known Paris paper Le Figuro. He was received at the entrance by M. Francis Magnard, the editor-in-chief, with all the staff of the journal, and conducted up the grand staircase, which was gaily decorated with plants and flowers in honor of His Majesty's visit. The King inspected the composing, stereotyping, and printing rooms, as well as the hall of despatches and the editorial chambers-and was greatly interested in all he saw. In the printingroom a special number of the Figaro was printed before his eyes, bearing at the head the following greeting in English and French: -"The journal Le Figaro presents its respectful homage to His Majesty Kala kaua I., King of the Sandwich Islands, and thanks him for having done it the honor of paying it a visit .- Le journal Le Figaro presente ses hommages respectueux à Sa Majestie Kalakaua I., Roi des Isles Sandwich, et le remercie d'avoir bien voulu lui fair l'honneur de le visiter." #### Fort Street Church-

Alded a large recruit to its membership on Suglay forenoon last. Forty-five adults joined by profession. These are chiefly the fruits of ther remarkable religious revival awakened by Mr. M. L. Hallenbeck. Rev. Mr. Cruzan administered the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper on this occasion, and made some very carnest exhortatory remarks-to the new members especially, and also to the whole congregation. In the evening there was an interesting revival meeting, made so pleasing to a sympathetic congregation by the charming and inspiring choral minstrelsy. A series of hymns were sung, as in praise service; and the ladies who have taken such earnest part with their voices in song at all the late revival meetings, delighted many souls on this occasion. Mrs. Cruzan offers a new roice to our church coers, and one of unusual weetness. It is most pleasing melody to the car to listen to a fine voice, repeat such stanzas : . I have read of a beautiful city, Far away in the Kingdom of God ; I have read how its walls are of jasper, How its streets are all golden and broad,

In the midst of the street is life's river-

Clear as crystal, and pure to behold ;

But not half of that city's bright glory To mortals has over been told." But when chaunted with a clear, tender intonation-as on this occasion-all hearts, whether still sin-seared, or saved, must be touched to their utmost depths.

It was also a delight to listen to Mrs. Hana-To listen to the pleasing soprano of Mrs. Hana-

"Ho, everyone that thirstoth. And to listen to Mrs. Pierce's

" What shall the harvest be." The chorus and organ accompaniments were sceedingly good and effective. Rev. Mr. Cruzan preached a sermon-or rather. a very interesting platform discourse-without notes, in respect to reasons "Why persons do not become Christians." Mr. Cruzan has a pleasant-toned voice, with agreeable gesture and manner-perhaps a trifle prononce for a preacher -but animated and attractive nevertheless. And of this whole community, that this gentleman Street Church as a pastor may continue for long years to come. We are informed, that on to-morrow, Sunof the establishment, where he inspected day evening, at 7.30 p.m., there will take place a all the interesting details of this manufac- very interesting service in the Chinese Church.
